

Superstars of STEM - Expectations for Participants

Your role as a Superstar of STEM will require you to commit, on average, 2 days a month to training, events, and taking full advantage of opportunities to build your public profile. As a participant, you will need to:

- Proactively seek to build your public profile
- Attend all scheduled workshops
- Visit 3-5 high schools in your area. You are expected to arrange these visits yourself using the guidelines provided.
- Participate in media and speaking opportunities generated by Science & Technology Australia (STA) and use the skills learned to generate your own.
- Leverage your relationship with your mentor.
- Represent the Superstars of STEM program in a professional and positive manner when participating in networking, media or speaking opportunities etc.
- Behave in a way that positively influences group morale and is supportive of other participants. Concerns should be raised directly with the Program Manager or CEO.
- Be inclusive and respectful towards others including fellow participants, STA staff and program facilitators at all times.
- Provide feedback through evaluation surveys at 6 monthly increments throughout the program and one 12 months post program. These are designed to track participants progress throughout the program and are used to continually improve the program design.
Note: Feedback is welcomed however it is expected that it is constructive and provided in a professional and respectful manner.
- Be open to feedback, new learning and experiences.
- Advise STA should you be unable to participate at any time during the program.
- Keep STA updated of any changes to your circumstances, including change of job title, role and any developments that may be newsworthy.
